

WEIGHING PRIZE WINNERS IN BOSTON BABY SHOW

Mayor Peters of Boston weighing two of the perfect tots entered in a baby show recently held in that city.

ASHANTI CHIEFS SWEARING LOYALTY TO BRITISH FLAG

Scene at Coomassie, West Africa, when the chiefs of the Ashanti were swearing loyalty to the flag of Great Britain. Under each umbrella is a chief, and the larger the umbrella, the greater the chief.

NEW INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE IN SESSION IN WASHINGTON

The opening session of the industrial conference in Washington. Left to right, seated, Julius Rosenwald, Henry C. Stuart, Samuel W. McCall, Thomas W. Gregory, Stanley King, and William B. Wilson. Standing: Henry J. Waters, Martin H. Glynn, Richard Hooker (above) Herbert Hoover, W. O. Thompson, Oscar Straus, George W. Wickersham, Henry M. Robinson, Prof. Frank W. Taussig and Owen D. Young.

FRENCH ARMY SELLS HORSES TO THE FARMERS

Big horse sale in the principal street of a town in southern France. The French government is now disposing of a great number of army horses, thus eliminating a big item of expense and at the same time providing the farmers with animals to aid in the reconstruction.

CZECHS RAZE AUSTRIAN MONUMENT

This photograph shows what happened to the monument which had been erected by Austria on the square where in 1620 many Bohemians were killed when the Czecho-Slovaks again became supreme in their country.

PRESENTS A NOVEL IDEA

A really novel and commendable idea is at present being fostered by Mme. Grace Porterfield Polk, eminent composer, who has established in the small city of Greenwood, Ind., the "Greenwood Community House" where the struggling unknown composers may occasionally meet and exchange ideas with the veterans and successful members of the profession. In this manner Mme. Polk hopes to create a center for composers, and thereby to foster and help the composition of masterpieces expressing the ideas and ideals of the people of today, and to make America a real "Land of Song" by means of yearly conventions.

Why Worry?

Multitudes of people seriously mar their lives by continually dwelling upon disagreeable possibilities, anticipating unhappy experiences, most of which are never realized; many seem to be so made up that they are the victims of worry. Just as some people are made up to be glib, says New Success. They catch every excuse that comes along for indulging their worrying propensities.

A colored woman reminded her easy-going husband that the rent had to be paid in six days.

"Then we sure don't have to worry about it for the next five days," he replied. "It's 'nough to worry on the day it is due, when it must be paid."

Some people might learn a lesson from this philosophical husband and not worry until they have to.

NO SIGNS OF "DRYNESS" IN HUNGARY

Such a thing as prohibition is quite unknown in Hungary, and one of the chief industries in that country is the cultivation of the grape for wine. The photograph shows a grower selling grapes by the tubful to a merchant for wine making.

DUG UP ANCIENT ESKIMOS

William B. Vail, famed explorer and head of the John Wanamaker expedition to the arctic, who returned to the United States recently after two years spent in the frigid regions of the North. The explorer while digging some distance from one of the Eskimo villages visited discovered a number of igloos entirely covered with ice. Excavating, he found bodies clad in reindeer skin, duck skins, etc. Indications were that the bodies had been frozen in the ice for hundreds of years. He shipped a number of the skeletons home, but the covering garments fell to pieces as soon as exposed to the air. The collection will be placed in the museum of the University of Pennsylvania.

Caesar's Slow Rise to Fame.

No one has so deeply influenced the course of history as Julius Caesar, for it is to him that we owe the Roman empire and all that that empire has meant to western civilization, including all our inheritance from the old world. He was one of the world's greatest men. But until he was forty years of age his name was overshadowed by that of Pompey, and he was a politician rather than a soldier. It was not till he was forty-two that he became a general and was given the command of the armies in Gaul, by which he is best known.

TOOK RED CROSS SEALS TO WHITE HOUSE

Master Jack Baker, (son of Secretary of War Baker), "Knight Banneret," and Miss Adrienne Mayer, the "Littlest Knight Banneret," who presented Red Cross seals at the White House. Little Miss Mayer has good reasons to be proud of her order, for General Pershing himself pinned it on her tiny coat and kissed her.

TAKEN FROM EXCHANGES

New York has a moving picture theater with a seating capacity of 5,300. Captain Fryatt's steamship Brussels was offered by the Belgian government to the British government. The germ theory of the transmission of disease was entertained as long ago as 1657, when Rome was ravaged by the plague. M. Piou, deputy, and Mme. Piou were attacked by burglars in their mansion at Cadras, Gironde, both being seriously injured. Orders for the construction of new passenger airships of the Bodensee type have been placed by the German Aerial company. To quickly clean a rifle a European inventor has patented a brush that can be mounted in place of a bullet on a cartridge and fired from it. A new bathroom accessory holds a tumbler in an inverted position to drain quickly and also serves as a ventilated shield for tooth brushes.

An electric pen has been invented by a native of India that carbonizes paper over which it passes. Guatemala's first plant for the manufacture of Portland cement has been started by American interests. A new pocket case for personal or business cards ejects a card part of its length as a lever is pressed. The Italian government has decided to electrify 6,000 kilometers of railroads with power obtained from waterfalls. More than 90 per cent of the alcohol and alcoholic drinks made in the Philippines are derived from palm tree juices. The speaker of the British house of commons is obliged by custom to give seven official dinners each season to the members of parliament. Every widow in the village of Economy, Ind.—there are 23—has received a bushel of Colorado potatoes, the gift of Wayne Macey, a Colorado farmer, who formerly lived in Economy.